New rescue van for EPFD

When the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department learned some months ago that their request for a grant toward the purchase of a new rescue van had been turned down for the fourth consecutive year, they found themselves faced with two options: to wait a year and apply again, hoping to reach the top of the list this time around, or to take matters into their own hands. They chose the latter course.

While a factory-new van would cost in the neighborhood of $70,000 to $80,000, the Department found it was possible to purchase a used cube van in good condition for approximately one third of this amount. Even with the cost of painting the van and renovating the interior to suit their needs, it will still be considerably less costly than purchasing a new unit.

The old rescue van was too small and underpowered for the purpose, once the Department had added the various items of equipment they require to do their job efficiently. It will be sold by the Town of Elk Point on the basis of sealed bids, once the newly acquired unit is ready for use. The Town has indicated that they will turn over the proceeds from the sale to the Department to be used toward the cost of the new van.

The van project will cost approximately $35,250. Of this amount, about half is for the van and getting it set up for use, while the other half will be for much needed updated equipment. A recent course in Vehicle Extrication taken by all members of the Department at Red Deer College showed them not only how to use extrication equipment, but "how ill equipped we really are," said Firefighter Roland Moneta, in explaining the need for additional equipment.

The Firemen's only fundraising project is the annual Canada Day Beerfest, of which they share the proceeds with the Lions Club and the Agricultural Society. From this event, over several years, they have accumulated a $8000 nest egg which they have put toward the project. The County of St. Paul No. 19 has indicated they will contribute $2500.

A major fundraising program is now underway. Almost every business in Elk Point has been approached, and told that any donation

Fertilizer Blending Plant For AWP

A new fertilizer blending plant is being constructed at the Elk Point Alberta Wheat Pool elevator. The capacity of the long awaited plant will be approximately 90 tonnes per hour, as big as most blending plants in the province. The plant, for which local Pool members submitted petitions, should result in cost saving for area farmers.

Heinsburg, Frog Lake win Provincials

Being only 20 miles apart Heinsburg and Frog Lake have a lot in common - including both having 1991 provincial boys' volleyball championship teams.

The Frog Lake Demons defeated the Consort Cobras 15-4, 15-12 to win the Provincial 1A High School championship in Bawlf, Saturday.

While Frog Lake was busy winning its championship, the Heinsburg Eagles defeated Three Hills 15-8, 15-13 to win the Provincial High School IIA championships in Sedgewick.

The championship was the first for Heinsburg in four tries at the provincials in the last seven years.

Town to adopt the Bicentennial image

The Town of Elk Point is wholeheartedly embracing the Bicentennial concept for 1992, and is planning a whole new image to go with the year-long celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Fort George and Buckingham House fur trading posts.

The Town's Development Committee has met twice to discuss the municipal involvement in the big event, and brought suggestions for a new motto, pin, promotional material, signage and decoration of the Town office to last Monday's Council meeting. They suggest adopting the image of Peter Fidler, a man of tolerance, respect and vision, as the focal point of their promotions. Council agreed to put the present fish-and-lake symbol and 'Lakeland Gateway' motto in mothballs for the whole of 1992, and will decide at the end of Bicentennial whether to retain the new image they are 'trying on for size,' or to revert to the pre-1992 symbol and logo.

Elk Point Municipal Library Board has grown by two members, with the appointment of Cheryl Dzerdz and with the appointment of former Town representative Adele Mandryk as a member-at-large.

Two proposals regarding the addition to the Elk Point Municipal Hospital have been submitted to the Municipal Planning Commission, and were brought to Council. AQ gradually sloped earth berm to separate the hospital parking area from Markstad Park was considered better than a five foot concrete wall, and Council would like to see the berm planted with evergreen trees to form a windbreak and a visual barrier.

Council was given a brief run-down on the 1992 budget, which presently appears to require a 2 mil increase over 1991, due to decreased revenue and increased costs. The decrease in revenue is partly due to the lower interest rates the Town now receives on term investments, while the increased costs result from the bill for the upcoming general assessment and from general increases in operating expenses. The Finance committee is doing their best to trim all unnecessary expenses in order to minimize the increase in taxes.

Fine Arts Fest at FGM

Something new and very special has been added to the calendar this Christmas season, as F. G. Miller High School presents their first-ever Fine Arts Festival, December 17 and 18.

The event will span both Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, plus Wednesday afternoon.

Tuesday, December 17 will feature entertainment by the Ukrainian Dance Club, the Elk Point

Heinsburg, Frog Lake win

"I thought we had a real good chance this year," Heinsburg coach Parrish Tung said. "This year I had a team with a lot of discipline and maturity." All that discipline was needed as Heinsburg had to defeat last year's champions Crowsnest Pass in the semifinal to meet Three Hills in the final. Heinsburg defeated Crowsnest Pass 15-13, 15-10.

Heinsburg suffered only one defeat during the tournament in Sedgewick, losing 2-1 to Pigeon Lake.

But that wasn't the team's fault, - it was Tung's.

"It was my fault," Tung said. "I got mad and lost my cool in the first game. But the boys came back and won the second and they learned what's the sense of getting upset."

Winning the IIA championship was quite an accomplishment for the Eagles, Tung said.

"We really did well when you consider that we are a IA school and we're competing against schools with 100 to 300 students."

It's a good thing Heinsburg jumped up a class or else they might have had to face the Frog Lake Demons in the provincial IA finals, who won their first championship Saturday.

The Demons went through the provincial tournament undefeated, and in the last four weeks Frog Lake has only lost one game.

But the 15-5, 15-12 victory over Consort in the finals was a little too close for comfort for Demon's hitter Rusty Quinney.

"The last game was 12-12 for the longest time," Quinney said. "But we were using our heads and kept our cool and we won."

Upon winning the final point, Frog Lake went a little nuts, according to Quinney.

"They were guys hanging all over me and I was trying to high-five them - it was great."

Great is how Frog Lake coach Daniel Knapp felt.

"The boys were fantastic," Knapp said. "They played their hearts out, the last game was do or die and they just didn't want to lose."

Division IA is for schools with an enrolment of less than 100 students.

When the Heinsburg Eagles and Frog Lake met in the finals of the County Cup at Regional High School Nov. 13, Frog Lake won 15-8, 15-10.

Community Choir, a drama presented by the FR. G. Miller teaching staff, a musical interlude by Lois Ramer, a poetry and dance routine by the Grade 11 girls, and solos by teacher Randall Kryss.

Wednesday afternoon, the Elk Point Figure Skating Club will take to the ice to give students of both FGM and Elk Point Elementary a demonstration of their particular art.

Wednesday evening's program will include two dramas starring FGM students and directed by Bernice Capjack, and music by the F. G. Miller High Band.

An ice sculpture competition is also being considered.

The organisers are still looking for stageworthy acts, and would like to get the community involved.

Admission both nights is only one loony per person.

"There is tremendous talent in this community," FGM spokesperson Leonard Franko said. "We want to bring it together and put it on stage for everyone to enjoy." The groups and individuals already on the program "are very enthusiastic about the idea," he added. "We have a vision of making this a week long festival eventually. This is a start."

Senior crusaders back in action!!!

The first High School basketball tournament of the year is coming up this weekend, and Coach Ray Danyluk says the Senior High Crusaders are ready and eager to get out on the court.

The nine team tourney features both boys' and girls' teams, with competitors coming from Heinsburg, Ashmont, Vermilion, Kitscoty, Grand Centre and Lac La Biche. Action gets underway at 4 p.m. on Friday, December 6 and lasts until at least 10 p.m. that evening, resuming at 9 a.m. Saturday and continuing until approximately 7 p.m. It is being held in conjunction with the Bicentennial kickoff and Merchants' Extravaganza, so when you're in town for that event, make sure to stop in and see some of these excellent basketballers compete.

This is a "pre-cut" tournament, which Danyluk explains is before the final cuts are made to teams. He is encouraging coaches to use their entire lineups, as this is a good opportunity to see them at play in a game situation. The emphasis is on sportsmanship, and instead of Most Valuable Player and All Star trophies, there will be t-shirts for the coach or coaches who best exemplify sportsmanship and good utilization of players.

The tournament is running on a minimal budget, with low entry fees, and is being supported by a number of local businesses, whose help is greatly appreciated.

Constitutional reform is about many things.

But mostly it's about you.

As Canadians, we are now facing one of the most important challenges in our history. Proposals have been put forward by the Government of Canada to improve our Constitution. These proposals, for a more united and prosperous Canada in which all Canadians can feel at home, are currently being reviewed by a special parliamentary committee. They will also be considered by a series of conferences run by independent Canadian organizations.

Some of the proposals include:

- ♦ a Canada clause that speaks of our hopes and dreams as Canadians, our values, our diversity, our tolerance and our generosity of spirit

- ♦ recognizing the right of aboriginal peoples to govern themselves while being protected by Canadian law
- ♦ ensuring recognition of Quebec's distinctiveness and of minority language groups
- ♦ reforming the Senate to make it elected, effective and much more equitable than it is now
- ♦ strengthening Canada's economic union so Canadians can work and conduct business anywhere in the country
- ♦ guaranteeing property rights.

Christmas Bird Count

Anyone from the novice to the skilled birder is encouraged to participate in the 2nd Annual Elk Point Christmas Bird Count on Sunday, December 22.

The Count is conducted in a 7½ mile radius with the center being the Town of Elk Point. Any birds spotted in this circle can be counted.

Once registered, participants will be provided with counting checklists, guidelines and other relevant information.

The Christmas Bird Count offers an excellent opportunity to get out and enjoy winter, meet others and learn about nature. The information gathered is also scientifically useful in providing data on winter distribution and abundance of various bird species across North America.

Registration Deadline is December 16, 1991. Phone 724-3800 to register or for more information.

Lend a Hand

Elk Point Community Services is working in cooperation with fellow community agencies and Revenue Canada to recruit and train volunteers to assist people who need a helping hand at tax time. Volunteer training and ongoing assistance will be provided.

A training session in Elk Point is scheduled for Thursday, January 16, 1992 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Lunch will be provided. A minimum number of 15 participants is required to run the session in Elk Point, and early registration is encouraged.

Teens to seniors are encouraged to volunteer and provide this vital community service.

Call 724-3800 to register or for more information.

Now Available

Women are needed in coaching and the Ready, Set, Coach video and manual is now available at the Community Services Centre. It provides information on opportunities for women in coaching with topics on necessary skills and traits, as well as, job, volunteer, education and training opportunities, and more!

Games for All Mouse Trap

The players form two circles, one inside the other. The outside circle become the mice, the inside circle becomes the mouse trap. The mouse trap holds hands and raise their hands. The mice walk in and out of the trap. When the leader calls "Snap!" the mouse trap lowers its arms and all mice caught in the trap become part of the trap. The game continues until all mice are caught.

Help Lionesses continue recycling

Elk Point and District Lioness Club

Many Elk Point residents may have noticed that the semi-trailer being used to collect paper for recycling has been filled and has made its way to Edmonton and back, for a profit of $12.63 for our club.

The Lioness would like to thank all the town and rural contributors who made this project happen. It has taken 8 months of volunteer time and effort to see this realization. It has not always been an easy task. There have been several instances of people bringing their garbage and leaving it in the semi-trailer. We have had everything from bags of stones and garden containers to old carpet and food scraps from the table.

Please, we do not enjoy sorting through your garbage. If everyone sorted their newsprint and cardboard and brought it to the semi-trailer bundled with twine or boxed separately, it would eliminate the task of dumping your garbage bags and manually sorting through it. This is not a pleasant task at any time - even less so in the cold of winter. Many hours of volunteer time would be saved if you could do this at home in warmth and comfort.

The paper buyers are becoming increasingly particular with their acceptance of paper products that they will take. We must insist that none of the following items be left for recycling as they are not accepted: milk cartons (too much wax), food cartons (eg. pizza boxes-food waste), plastic garbage or grocery bags, shredded paper (no market available), glossy magazines (too much ink), phone books (too much glue in the binding-alternatives are available for recycling these), catalogues (too much colored ink), brown envelopes, envelopes with windows, construction paper, wrapping paper.

Please help keep this project running smoothly, as the Lioness Club and you have already kept 16 ½ TONS of paper and cardboard from going to our town dump site. This is a great accomplishment for our community. We would greatly appreciate your continued support and further effort in this project.

First loss for Elks

Elk Point Elks kept their undefeated record in Sask-Alta League play against Paradise Valley on Tuesday night, with a 10-2 win, but were not so lucky on Saturday night, when they suffered a 9-1 loss at the hands of Neilburg.

The team is hoping for a much better outcome in their return match against Neilburg, this Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. in Elk Point. Make sure you come out and cheer on the Elks!

In Our View

December deadlines

December has danced in, with dreary days, drifting snow (or dust?), dozens of duty tasks to drag through, before Christmas and its merrymaking moves in.

December, those last short days before the year ends, fall falls flat (or should that be autumn ambulates?), and serious winter descends upon us. I think we here in Alberta consider it serious winter about mid-October; that is when the first snow settled in this year, and while we dreamed of it leaving, and a lo-o-o-oong Indian Summer, such did not develop.

The snows of October didn't melt so much as dehydrate, but from time to time another dusting fell, to hide the parched, cracked earth, and I, at least, have been able to ski around my yard, where the grass was cut, and even over the very long stuff, to my pleasure.

Have you, too, found the birds especially hungry this winter, devouring seeds like, well...seeds? With the summer so dry, I suppose various wild weed seeds which they usually feed on, must have been sparse, or fell off early, so they can't find them.

Or, more likely, we have spoiled the little rascals so, by hand-feeding them, they are just too lazy to rustle for themselves? I hate to think I've impaired the get-up-and-go instincts of a generation of birds, to feed my pleasure in having them near. If I am guilty, then so, too, are many others, for I see feeders at almost every home.

Does December see the end of the hunting season, so I'll feel secure skiing in my old grey coat, instead of the bright pink one, at the same time wondering how many color-blind hunters are out there scoping the fields for anything that moves - and wondering if I look as much like a deer as a large red cow does? A snow-cover lets you know just how many creatures are out there, that we never see or think of in summer. There are tiny mice tracks, the vole tunnels, the spots where rabbits have touched in their odd hops. Here the :: tracks of a little weasel, the sprawling drag where a partridge has wandered, in her search for wild rose apples, grass seeds or whatever she can find to ease her hunger.

Some weeks of December are dull, days go by with gray clouds, a sort of twilight haze over all, not always bitter cold, but drabby and uninteresting. Then, one morning we wake to a brilliant sun, blue sky forever, long shadows across the snow, a sparkle as of diamonds stuck to the trees, and we know we live in God's country and all is right with our world. If only from indoors, looking out.

December days can be full of rush, hurry here, hurry there, cakes to bake, puddings to make, letters to write and cards to sign. Some folks will have their Christmas lights up before

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

December ever strikes, others will be scurrying for ladders and new bulbs and all the paraphernalia of the Yuletide - reindeers and Santas, sleighs and bells, bunches of holly and scent of pine. December is the month for secrets, and hidden goodies, carolling and a lot of time in front of the television, as the old, old stories are told again and again, in new and different version, but still the same old tale.

School kids will surely be into counting the days left, meanwhile cramming for tests and, surely somewhere? practicing for the Christmas concert. The churches plan Christmas specials, cantatas, and family evenings, all complete with food and gifts, Stores vie with each other, in quantity and glitter of flyers, filled with just the very things everyone MUST have, to make their Christmas merry and bright.

I must admit, when I was a young mother, with a flock of kids to "Christmas - ize" I was not even remotely able to spend the time, money or effort on making such a splash with or for them, as parents seemingly are obliged to do today. I never had to turn my back on about a truckload of toys already stacked high, and go out and try and find more and more toys to add to the pile. Usually, by the time Christmas loomed, my kids would be down to brass tacks, as far as toys were concerned, really OUT. So it wasn't hard to find something they'd be interested in, the hard part was finding the cash to buy with. So many gifts were handmade, by Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus. With few complaints, I might add. So December was a busy time, then, too.

December, year end, holds other pitfalls. It seems to be the very time when countless bills come due: home insurance, auto insurance, power bill, Lifecall upkeep, all those magazines and papers we like to keep coming, phone bill, gas bill, (for me, no water bill!) and about 500 begging letters from every known and unknown charity and group out to save the world. Oh, boy, the things they can accomplish (if we just give them our money in large handfuls!) and no doubt some do help. There are just TOO MANY.

Already, I have received my first Christmas card. I know the mails are notoriously slow, but surely they'll be able to sift them along somehow, if we don't mail until - oh, about Dec. 10? To Canadian destinations?

So as the year winds down, are we glad we are not still 'at war' - or again? The depression (or recession) hasn't been licked - but they're working on it. Perhaps if we all do our best, and help our fellow man, we can finish off this old year, and roll up our sleeves to make the new one the BEST YET.

Shop Elk Point first

Hustle, hustle, bustle, bustle-it's that shop-'til-you-drop season. How to get everything done before Christmas is the question on everyone's lips.

There's one easy way to cut at least four hours off your shopping time: shop at home. That may be a revolutionary thought, but it can work. Instead of braving winter highways and subjecting yourself to the stress of monster malls, wander downtown whenever you have a free half hour, and look around. You might be surprised at the selection and the good prices you can find right here in your own community. The bazaars and craft sales are also great places to look for wonderful and imaginative gifts.

Cities are wonderful places at this time of year, true. Getting there, however, is time-consuming at best and hazardous at worst. Spending your money there is very easy, but remember that it is not helping our local economy to stay healthy. If we do not give our local stores our business, how can we expect them to be there when we need them? You'd hate to have to drive to another town to buy your child a pair of mittens, or to get a half a pound of nails to finish a building project, wouldn't you? (This is not to say you shouldn't go to the cities to see the sights, take in shows, etc. That is called TOURISM, and is a vital aspect of the provincial economy.)

It's true that you can't find everything you might want to buy here. In some cases, that's because those stores have gone out of business due to lack of customers. In other cases, it's because a community of 1300 can't support a jewellery store, or a bookstore, or a gourmet coffee outlet. If you feel you HAVE to give those things, you will have to go elsewhere. But have you explored the alternatives, such as catalog shopping? That can spread your horizons, while you stay warm and comfy in your own chair at home.

This Friday is the Merchants' Extravaganza. Some of the best buys anywhere will be offered to shoppers, and the Farmers' Market will offer another 15 or more tables of crafts and cookery. Before you go anywhere else to shop, come down and enjoy the Extravaganza. You may find you don't need to go anywhere else, and you'll feel good about helping your own community to survive financially.

Explanation of the Ecomuseum concept

Elk Point Bicentennial Committee explored the concept of developing a large area of north-eastern Alberta into an ecomuseum, when consultant Jaroslav Balan of Edmonton addressed their November 5 meeting.

Balan, who is on contract to Alberta Culture and the Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies, said the establishment of an ecomuseum is, in effect, "turning the place you live into a museum." This would promote economic development and tourism as well as "preserving the historical legacy" of the region. Unlike a traditional museum, the ecomuseum "leaves things where they are and brings people to see them," by developing a series of sites, projects and community events which illuminate various areas of history.

To be considered for an ecomuseum, a region must have something which makes it unique. The Ukrainian Settlement Bloc, which reaches to the north of Newbrook, Vilna and Goodfish Lake, south to Tofield, Ryley and Innisfree, west to Waugh and Josephsburg and east to Elk Point and Rusylvia, still is heavily populated by those of Ukrainian descent. Rather than calling the area by its working title, the Ukrainian Settlement Bloc Ecomuseum, which is "too long and doesn't say anything," Balan suggests the area be called 'Kalyna Country' after the Ukrainian and Polish name for the high bush cranberry, a common plant in this area which was used by natives and settlers and eaten by wildlife. Its distinctive leaves and flowers would make a good logo for the ecomuseum, Balan said.

Six 'layers' of history can be interpreted, Balan said. Geology or physiography could utilize viewpoints such as Akasu Hill and Eagle Tail Hill, and the various crossings of the North Saskatchewan. Flora and Fauna could be explored at such sites as Elk Island Park and Beaver Hill Nature Centre, as well as various nature and hiking trails throughout the region. In the study of Aboriginal History, sites of historical and spiritual significance could be used to shed light on the culture of the area's first people. Buckingham House and Fort George would be "a cornerstone" of the Early European Exploration and fur trade layer, along with Fort Victoria and Fort de l'Isle, Balan said, and upgrading trails and highlighting attractions along the river would bring tourists to tread in the footsteps of explorers and voyageurs. The Ukrainian Village, Shandro and Boian would be some of the areas pertaining to European settlement and colonization, while the last, Modern, layer would explore contemporary social and economic life, and such points of interest as the oilfields. Development of a wide range of projects, from simple signage to thematic booklets to full scale attractions, would be encouraged.

A meeting will be called in Andrew later this month to create a steering committee for the ecomuseum, Balan said. He has talked to the senior management at Alberta Culture Historic Sites and said they are enthusiastic about the project. Budget cuts have made it harder to access money, and the idea of implementing a number of community-based projects is attractive to them as a way to enhance historic development at minimum cost.

What's news at the library?

This week we received a kit of material from the National Library of Canada. Governor General Ramon J. Hnatyshyn and his wife Gerda have extended their patronage to the Read Up On It Program. In part, the Governor General states in the introduction that "The importance of fostering a love of reading in young children cannot be understated. Children should be encouraged to read a wide variety of books at school and at home. Children who are at ease with words will realize great educational and personal advantages and our society will benefit from a more literate, more able population. Reading is not simply a basic skill which we all need to survive. It is a passport to a life of fulfilled potential and delightful discoveries. Reading enables all of us to explore our interests, to share the experiences of other Canadians, and to maintain an awareness of current events through newspapers and magazines."

Different Drummers: Banking and Politics In Canada by Robert Macintosh. There are few economic issues in the life of a country that do not involve the banks in one way or another. If they involve the banks, they also touch on politics. This book has been purchased in memory of Mr. R. E. Beattie.

See Jane Run by Joy Fielding. "One afternoon in late spring, Jane Whitaker went to the store for some milk and eggs and forgot who she was..."

Canadian Living's Country Cooking offers 200 delicious contemporary versions of favorite traditional foods and includes entertaining ideas and menu suggestions throughout this beautifully illustrated cookbook.

Fern Michaels, the New York Times best-selling author of the blockbuster Texas trilogy, has written her richest, most haunting and passionate novel yet, For All Their Lives. At its centre are a beautiful half-French, half-American Army nurse and the idealistic officer she loves.

The year is 1977 and Adam is a man whose time is running out and for whom life has saved the very best for last. In this sensitive film, The Gathering, Ed Asner and Maureen Stapleton star in this Emmy Award winning Christmas special that has already become a seasonal classic.

And so the story goes

Irene Magnusson

"Telling a Story" was the whole point of story teller Gail de Vos, from Edmonton, as she spoke to an enthralled cluster of young listeners (and a few older listeners) at the Elk Point Elementary School, November 18, where some 90 people gathered in the Music Room as part of the celebration of the 14th Annual Canadian Children's Book Festival at Elk Point schools.

Gail de Vos is a teacher at the University of Alberta, and, in summer, a storyteller at Fort Edmonton Park, where she holds forth in the Rundle Chapel, telling stories and folk tales to young and old, while she fascinates their eyes with seemingly magic string fantasies with her fingers.

She wove the tale of Methodist missionary Robert Terrill Rundle, who came from England to Fort Edmonton in 1840, making it a base for his ministrations through the west. Rundle was a traveller, mastered the Cree language, explored. He later returned to England to preach.

Ms de Vos expressed a belief that some of us have lost the art of 'listening,' and illustrated this with a little test for her audience. The truth of her observation brought laughter and chagrin.

This gifted storyteller held her young audience with a tale of an Orkney Island miller, beset by a mean king, and how the king was outwitted, all the while her busy fingers twined the loops of yarn, matching the twining of the 'yarn' her voice was spinning.

"Tall tales," Ms de Vos explained, "are 'survival' tales, meant to make the grim present less grim, by exaggerating the past grimness of life." She demonstrated this with the tale of a fish that learned to survive out of water, and another that adapted to its surroundings.

Continuing her time with a couple of other "tall tales," some with a bit of sound effects from her audience, Ms de Vos filled the hour with enchantment. Her soft yet distinctive voice carried well, and was heard by the impressed group clearly. She is a most adept story teller.

NEARTA meets

North East Alberta Retired Teachers Association held their meeting November 19 at the Empress in Elk Point with 35 members present. President Dave Thomsen conducted the meeting. Lily McCool, who attended the meeting at Barnett House in October gave a very interesting detailed report.

Once again we are thinking of a tour, possibly southern or northern Alberta. Next meeting will be in Glendon on February 18, 1992.

Gail de Vos has one published book to her credit, a teachers' guide, "Story Telling For Young Adults."

This gifted 'yarn spinner' performed at F. G. Miller High School in the morning, and gave two sessions at the Elementary in the afternoon. The Music Room is a wonderfully adaptable place for such offerings, with the curved tiers of carpeted seating space, and excellent acoustics.

Myrna Fedorus, Librarian, thanked her guest at the end of the stories, and a unique book-mark was presented by one of the students.

Elk Point Atoms

The Elk Point Atoms are starting where they left off last year, on a winning streak. Last year, they were the Highway 28 East League Champions.

The Atoms have played two league games against Bonnyville teams and won both. The Atoms this year are sponsored by Doug and Donna McPherson of Capitol IDA Drug Store and by Allan and Sherry Oszust of Lakeland Tire. This gives the team the new name of Elk Point Atom Capitol Raiders.

The team is coached by Norm Quinney Jr. and managed by Bob Matthews and Marshall Moroziuk. The team consists of eight second year Atoms, four first year and two novice players. The second year Atoms are Craig Hutton, Robert Lychak, Clinton Maksymec, Shaun Moroziuk, Brad Pankiw, John Quinney, Matthew Vincent and William Quinney (goalie). First year Atoms are Jordan Bassett, Nathan Matthews, Normie Quinney, and Orin Quinney. The two novices are Russell Quinney and Tyler Vincent.

Elk Point United Church

Preparation is already underway for the Christmas season. We can see things appearing in the catalogues and shops to attract the attention of the potential buyers.

Soon we will see lights and decorations in our community and homes. Outside the United Church in Elk Point, we will see the Nativity scene.

As you look at Christmas, what do you see? Oh! There is the stable, the star, Mary and Joseph. There are the shepherds and the wise men. What else do you see?

As we pause and look again, we see the central attraction. That is the baby Jesus. Look at him and tell me what do you see? We see a baby that is a real human child - but a unique child.

Yes, this child is the second person of the Godhead. He is the "Word made flesh" (human). This is God's Eternal Son, the gift of His love.

As we approach the manger and see the Child, we are gazing upon the wonder of the incarnation. As we look, let us take time to worship, because this is Immanuel - God with us.

Sponsors Drop The Puck

Allan Frankiw of Norcen Energy Resources and Chris Weiss of Elk Point Co-op drop the ceremonial puck to open the 8th Annual Norcen Cup Peewee Hockey Tournament. Elk Point Wolverines Captain Jeff Dunlop (#77) and Vermilion Co-op's centre stand ready to start off the game.

Tournament Winners

Blades Place Second

Elk Point Co-op Blades were presented with the runner-up trophies by Chris Weiss of Elk Point Co-op (far right).

Elk Point vs Elk Point

The out-of-town teams didn't stand a chance in this weekend's 8th Annual Westmin Cup Peewee Tournament in Elk Point, although visitors from Two Hills and St. Paul won both round-robin pools in the eight team tourney.

The A Pool winning Two Hills Chiefs lost out to the Elk Point

Co-op Blades by a 6-4 margin in semi-final play, while the B Pool winners, St. Paul Canadiens, were trounced 6-0 by Elk Point Norcen Wolverines.

The two Elk Point squads then met in a hard-played final which saw the Wolverines leading 5-2 after two periods. The Blades kept the Wolverines at bay for a full half period before the score inched up to 6-2, with the Wolverines adding a seventh goal four minutes later. The Blades had the last word in the game, with their third goal coming with just 23 seconds left on the clock, for a final 7-3 score.

Allan Frankiw of Norcen Energy Resources presented Wolverines Captain Jeff Dunlop with the Norcen Cup on behalf of Norcen and Superior Propane. Each team member was presented with a trophy from Norcen, while the Blades were presented with trophies sponsored by Co-op. Norcen also donated medals for the Most Sportsmanlike Players in the tourney. Teams from Vermilion, Mannville, Lloydminster and Marwayne also took part in the three days of action.

The boys on the ice were not the only winners in the tournament. One lucky program holder at each of the first twelve games received either a dinner for two at the Hilltop Cafe or the Empress Family Restaurant, or an extra large pizza donated by Dave's Pizza, while a number of door prizes were donated by Woody's Trophy and Gift Shop, Norcen, Co-op, Doug Sparks, Roy and Doreen Watson and the Peewee Parents.

Co-op Blades player of the week

Jacob Faithful from Frog Lake. Age 13 years, 4'11" tall and weighs 105 pounds. Jacob has played goal for 4 years and really puts his heart into the game. His NHL star is Theoren Fleury. His prediction to win the Stanley Cup this year is the Montreal Canadiens.
